International Masterclass for School Leaders

School Leaders: Are you thinking about leading or do you LEAD the thinking?

This Leadership Masterclass is for school leaders committed to leading the thinking in their school communities and classrooms.

The Masterclass Leaders have worked closely with some of the world's most outstanding thought leaders: de Bono, Senge, Costa, and Perkins. They share many decades of leadership experience at the highest levels. They also currently coach international leaders across education, business, health and elite sport.

On this day you will reflect deeply on your current understanding and practice of leadership, and match these against the world's best. Every skill, model and process we will explore has been tested and refined by our presenters. They work in the reality of school life. You will learn how to focus your leadership energies on areas of highest leverage.

Masterclass Highlights:

- Access innovative leadership skills and processes through the latest international research and best practice
- Experience interactive learning processes that will challenge your thinking
- Discover powerful new models you can apply immediately in your own context
- Overcome the busyness trap and leverage your time and energy
- Broaden your repertoire of leadership capabilities and dispositions
- Learn how to build a performance development culture in your school

"I would rank John Edwards among the "top 5" organizational consultants in the world. He is always rated as a most dynamic and enjoyable presenter - his content and methods are always leading edge. I have learned much from my continuing association with John."

Nick Zeniuk, former Head, Society for Organizational Learning, and Senior Ford executive.

About the Presenters

Professor John Edwards is one of the leading international researchers in cognitive science. John has researched inside Australian schools for almost 40 years. He coaches leaders to develop their own powerful thinking repertoires, and through these, to lead others. De Bono cites John as the world's leading researcher into the application of his processes.

Bill Martin is an award-winning school leader from the USA. His powerful processes focus on organisational learning, the creation of leadership capacity, innovation, effective change, and the direct teaching of systems thinking skills and thinking dispositions.

Dr Neil Carrington is Foundation National Director of the Australian Council for Educational Research (ACER) Leadership Centre. He specializes in the development of performance cultures in schools and has developed groundbreaking leadership programs for many organisations.

Guest presenters include:

James Nottingham (UK),
Mary Wilson (NZ),
Steve Stanley (WA)
